DEAR CLIENTS, SHAREHOLDERS, EMPLOYEES, SOCIAL PARTNERS, SUPPLIERS, AND GENERAL PUBLIC

In this accounting period, we present the financial report of the six-month period ended June 30, 2012, which shows the results of the work and commitment of over 14,000 people that are part of our Institution and the trust of our more than 40,000 shareholders.

At the cutoff of the first half of 2012, we report the management of public funds amounting to Bs. 82,577 million, Bs. 76,165 million of which corresponded to customers' deposits that increased by 7.65% and allowed us to achieve a 12.95% market share.

From January to June 2012, Banesco's equity amounted to Bs. 7,907 million (a 27.35% increase over December 2011) and total assets to Bs. 86.878 million (a 9.6% increase over 2011 cutoff), thus closing the first half of 2012 with a market share in assets of 12.38%, and reaffirming our leading position in the national private bank.

Our commitment to the country's development is evident in our effort to fulfill the credit demand of all national sectors. At the close of the first half of year, we recorded a gross loan portfolio of Bs. 53,723 million –a 65.25% increase over the same period in 2011.

The granting of loans with funds from Fondo de Ahorros Obligatorio de Vivienda (FAOV) (Mandatory Housing Savings Fund) totaled Bs. 613 million for the benefit of 4,243 Venezuelan families. We also granted mortgage loans with own resources for Bs. 5,453 million.

We hold the leading position in credits to tourism and microloans in the national banking system. Credits to tourism totaled Bs. 922 million, plus 45,918 microloans for Bs. 2,569 million.

We supported other productive activities in the country such as agriculture with Bs. 9,477 million, benefiting 1,595 producers, and manufacturing with Bs. 3,968 million.

The microentrepreneurs have been and will be a priority. The first half of year, Banca Comunitaria Banesco (Banesco Community Banking) reported 17,702 microloans. We also opened a second service point in Barquisimeto for a total of 20 Community Agencies nationwide.

As we are aware of the role of education, we boosted the Community Banking Microentrepreneurs Training Program that was simultaneously implemented in Caracas, Guarenas, Maracaibo, Barquisimeto, Maracay, Puerto Cabello, and Valencia during the first half of year.

We consolidated our commitment to the community; hence, our social investment amounted to Bs. 11.24 million in the first half of year. The funds were allocated to different activities and projects aimed to improve the quality of life of our workers and the overall community. Of the grand total, 74.79% corresponded to non-contractual benefits for over 14,000 collaborators of our Institution throughout the country. While the external dimension of the RSE Program channeled in projects with our social partners amounted to Bs. 2,777,330.

This year –after a 5-year period– we reintroduced the event Palabras para Venezuela (Words for Venezuela). On March 10, over four thousand people met in Ciudad Banesco for the gathering of three special guests, the former presidents of Brazil, Spain, and Chile, Fernando Henrique Cardoso, Felipe González, and Ricardo Lagos, respectively. It was an enriching and outstanding dialog, a venue with the community, and an opportunity to reflect on financial, political, and cultural matters.

This six-month period has been clearly a time for learning and growth. We are committed to continue supporting our clients to accomplish their personal and professional goals.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS' REPORT

THE VENEZUELAN ECONOMY DURING THE FIRST HALF OF 2012

Actual Sector

During the first half of 2012, the economy continued showing the favorable performance that started in 2011 after two years of recession.

The expenditures from the Central Government are still a determining factor in its evolution, recording disbursements for Bs. 190.7 thousand million, which represented a 50.2% increase over the same period in 2011.

The global demand increased 12.8% with the Government final consumption expenditure, showing a variation of 5.4%, boosted by the tax expense, while the final private consumption increased 6.2% mainly due to the 5.4% increase of actual remunerations during the first half of year.

The gross fixed capital formation was the element of the demand with the major increase (+18.4%) due to more infrastructure work requirements from the public sector, both from the Central Government and the oil industry, and the increase of residential construction within the framework of Gran Misión Vivienda Venezuela (Venezuela's Great Housing Mission), as well as an increase in the import of capital goods, mainly machinery and equipment.

The increase in the demand promoted the growth of the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) showing a 5.6% increase in the first half of year. The financial institutions and carriers showed the best performance (+31.8%), benefited by the environment of economic growth and higher money supply, which translated into higher business volume. The construction sector showed a 22.5% increase, after the 3.9% decrease last year. Finally, the business activity increased 8.9% due to the increase in consumption levels.

Mining was the only GDP activity showing a reduction (-4.8%), being one of the less dynamic sectors within the last 10 years, while manufacturing showed a minor increase (0.7%), despite of the increase in the demand, thus showing weakness due to the competition with imports, lack of supplies, price control, and exchange control, which seems to have a stronger effect on food production.

Monetary Sector

Despite of the significant stationary period traditionally experienced by the monetary liquidity (M2) during the second half of year, it already showed a 16.9% increase the first half of the year, which exceeds the 14.9% variation showed in the first half of 2011. The growth of the monetary aggregate was closely related to the fiscal expansion, the monetary policy of the Central Bank of Venezuela (BCV), and the money creation through credit intermediation.

We observe that the increase in the M2 was leveraged by the increase in cash (+18.3%), since cash equivalents reduced by 12.6%. The recovery of cash was related to the increase in sight deposits (+25.5%), which recorded the highest increase in the M2 (70.1%), followed by transferable savings deposits (+7.3%); while cash in hands, following the stationary trend, dropped 6.4% during the first half of year. Additionally, the decrease in cash equivalents is due to the drop of 38.5% of certificates of deposits and term deposits, which was partly compensated by the 29.1% increase of transferable savings deposits.

The recovery of the economic activity and its effect on the credit demand, as well as the credit needs of the nation promoted the reduction of the liquidity surplus in the financial system, closing 2011 in Bs. 46 thousand million, which was at Bs. 31 thousand million at the close of the first half of year, but forced the interest rates to the down trend, particularly the lending rates, while the savings rates remained practically unchanged over 2011. The average lending rate during the first half of 2012 was at 16.39%—a 0.96 percent decrease over the average in 2011 (17.35%), mainly due to the 2.25 percent drop in the credit rates applicable to business and service activities (17.85% and 17.8%, respectively). There were other significant reductions in lending rates in manufacturing (-1.09 percent) and mining and quarry (-2.11 percent) at 14.90% and 15.02%, respectively.

The savings rates for term deposits decreased by 0.08 percent, up to 14.50%, and 0.6 percent for savings deposits up to 12.51%, both practically being at the minimum 12.50% established by the BCV in 2009 for savings deposits and 14.50% for term deposits.

In accordance with the National Consumer Price Index (INPC), inflation increased 7.5%, significantly lower than the 13.0% increase recorded last year during the same period. All the items that make up the basket of goods and services measured by the BCV showed a slowdown in prices, particularly food and drinks, the most important group in the INPC, which decreased from 13.0% in the first half of 2011 to 7.6% in the first half of 2012. Likewise, the price reduction was closely related to the price increase during the six-month period in Home Equipment and Miscellaneous Goods and Services of 2.0% and 1.8%, respectively. This significant decrease is due to the fact that these items include home maintenance and personal care goods, and in April 2012, in the context of the enforcement of the Law of Fair Costs and Prices, the prices of 19 of these items were reduced or frozen.

External Sector

The average price of Venezuela's oil export basket was 107.8 US$/b, showing a 9.6 US$/b increase over the first half of 2011. It is worth mentioning that these prices reached 112.1 US$/b in the first quarter, and dropped to 103.5 US$/b in the second quarter due to a lower growth in the demand caused by the effect of the European debt crisis in the world economy and higher production of non-OPEC countries, with USA and Canada in the leading positions, and OPEC members, mainly Saudi Arabia and Libya.

The highest price of the Venezuelan crude oil allowed the increase of net oil exports to US$ 42.4 thousand million—an increase of US$ 1.5 thousand million throughout the last 12 months. Non-oil exports totaled US$ 2.1 thousand million (-10%).

Non-oil imports increased US$ 22.1 thousand million, which is higher by US$ 3.4 thousand million than the imports on the first half of 2011, with a significant increase of US$ 17 thousand million (+US$ 4.4 thousand million) in private sector imports, while the imports in the public sector decreased US$ 5.1 thousand million (-US$ 1.0 thousand million).

As a result, balance of trade recorded a surplus of US$ 22.5 thousand million that after considering the deficit in the service and revenue balance allowed a favorable current account of US$ 10.2 thousand million.

IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE NATIONAL
CONSUMER PRICE
INDEX (INPC),
INFLATION INCREASED
7.5%, SIGNIFICANTLY

INCREASE RECORDED
LAST YEAR DURING THE SAME PERIOD

The capital and financial account resulted in a deficit of US$ 9.3 thousand million, evidencing an improvement over the first half of 2011, when the outflows reached US$ 15.8 thousand million. This time, the deficit balance was due to the increase in the accounts receivable of PDVSA and US$ 6.2 thousand million of deposits from the private sector abroad (supply of official foreign currency and payment of debts and services to public contractors).

Hence, there was a deficit in the balance of payments for US$ 1.4 thousand million. However, the international reserves decreased from US$ 29.9 thousand million to US$ 28.4 thousand million (-US$ 1.4 thousand million), partly due to the drop in the price of gold, which was at 2011 close at US$ 1,696 per troy ounce and US$ 1,650 (-2.7%) in June 2012.

The liquid international reserves (foreign currency) amounted to US$ 4.7 thousand million (equal to a little more than one month of non-oil imports).

During the first half of year, the Foreign Exchange Administration Commission (Cadivi) paid US$ 14.3 thousand million, an increase of US$ 963 million over the same period in 2011. US$ 11.1 thousand million (+US$ 147 million) was allocated for ordinary imports through the Latin American Integration Association (ALADI) and through the Unified System for Regional Compensation (SUCRE).

The foreign currency supply through the System of Exchange for Foreign Currency-denominated Securities (SITME) was complemented with US$ 5.2 thousand million, representing a 32.1% (+US$ 1.3 thousand million) increase.

BANKING SYSTEM

The excellent results corresponding to the period ended June 2012 are mainly generated by an efficient intermediation activity, highlighting the significant growth of the loan portfolio, the decrease in default payments and management indicators that evidence an efficient utilization of available resources, among other.

It also should be noted the significant effort of the institutions comprising the market in order to meet the required placement percentages, positively contributing to the country's main productive activities.

We also may add the progressive increase in the banking penetration level¹ of Venezuelan population, which according to studies conducted by the Superintendence of Banks and Financial Institutions (Sudeban), by June 2012 closing ranged between 52.11% and 62.53%, exceeding in almost 5 percentage points the index observed in December 2011 and in 10 points the index observed by the end of 2010. The foregoing coincides with the increase in the number of current bank accounts, over 30 million vs. 24 million in 2010.

The growing access of population to banking services is also shown in the deepening of the system within the country's economic activity. The loan portfolio of the first six-month period of 2012 represented 21.37% of the GDP (at current prices), while customers' deposits reached 37.51%, exceeding in both cases the percentages of 2011 and 2010.

The breakdown of the system by the closing of the period was similar to previous period, with a total of 35 institutions; maintaining the same proportion between private (25) and public institutions (10). However, the significance of universal banks slightly increased, currently representing 60% of market. Such change was firstly generated by the merger of two institutions, one of which belonged to the category of commercial banks, thus decreasing this last category, and by the presence of a new foreign capital competitor. The system currently counts on 3,592 offices and 76,731 employees.

- ▶ The banking system ended the first six-month period of 2012 with assets amounting to Bs. 701,761 million, which represents an increase of Bs. 112,835 million (19.16%) with respect to 2011 closing and Bs. 230,564 million (48.93%) during the last twelve months.
- ▶ Similarly to previous months, the net loan portfolio (Bs. 324,474 million) maintains its upward trend, showing a six-month variation of Bs. 59,462 million (22.44%) and a year-on-year variation of Bs. 116,833 million (56.27%), consolidating as the main driver of system's assets, increasing its participation from 44.07% in June 2011 to 46.24% at current date.
- ▶ The number of credits keeps a level similar to the second six-month period of 2011, over 10 million; however, loans due over 360 days had a slight increase representing 60.17% of total loans in June 2012.
- ▶ From the desegregation of the system's gross portfolio (Bs. 336,176 million) per type of loans, we observe an increase in commercial, agriculture and microloans, being the latter those with the highest increase during the six-month period ended June 2012 (+34.93%). However, there is a continuous decrease in consumption loans (Credit Cards and vehicles), comprising 16.26% of the portfolio.

- ▮ Like in the previous six-month period, the commercial portfolio showed the highest increase in absolute terms, though in less proportion this time, increasing its balance in Bs. 27,157 million, to amount to Bs. 127,928 million at June closing. The agriculture portfolio is consolidated in second place in the variation (+Bs. 11,388 million), closing in Bs. 60,111 million being the most significant among the directed portfolios, achieving compliance of 30.60%, while 24% is required.
- ▮ The increase in the economic activity during this six-month period as well as high liquidity levels translated into a significant increase (+Bs. 104,708 million) of customers' deposits, reaching Bs. 588,046 million at the closing of the first six-month period of current year, especially in sight deposits (+Bs. 80,701 million) if compared to December 2011 and Bs. 150,639 million during the last twelve months. Savings deposits had a slight increase of almost 8 thousand million bolivars during the period mainly leveraged by movements conducted by natural persons, while time deposits decreased Bs. 4,501 million in such term.
- ▮ The breakdown composition of deposits is similar to the previous six-month period, having savings deposits the highest number of depositors (62.25%), followed by checking accounts (37.53%).

- ▮ The positive performance of the banking sector is evidenced through the obtainment of excellent indices, including the improved quality in the portfolio, decreasing the percentage of the default portfolio from 3.06% in June 2011 to 1.21% at closing of the first 2012 six-month period, which not only implies a better understanding of customers but the observance of strict criteria for managing risks and granting loans in conformity with current regulations and best practices applied.

QUALITY MANAGEMENT

Client Satisfaction vs. Service Quality

For purposes of retaining the position of Banesco label in the financial market, standard management indices are generated under the corporate dimensions through customer voice programs and as follow-up of the core service chains/processes, which serve as basis to guide the strategies of the business areas, segments and channels aimed at working on an offer adjusted to market needs, render a better service and guarantee customer satisfaction under the standards of the Organization, regulations and market competition.

During the first six-month period of 2012, we continue the follow-up on service delivery to customers and users of our service channels and points through the monitoring programs that guarantee our compliance with offer and quality.

Between January-June 2012, a periodical program was applied to monitor the service and needs of customers/users of the agency network, finding high levels of satisfaction: 51 agencies assessed at national level reached a Management Efficiency of 91.18% and the ratio of Users Satisfaction at Agencies reached 8.86/10 points, based on 4,245 Banesco customers. We still keep guidelines and corporate goals related to customer satisfaction, along with the follow-up to the capacity of response and service availability, understanding that final quality is the goal of the areas involved and the Bank's internal teamwork.

During the first half of 2012, Risk Management continued being focused on actions aimed to contribute to global loss prevention, maintenance of business continuity, and increase efficiency in loan portfolio management. The follow-up of key risk indicators institutionally established has allowed processing the evolution of the risk levels and the business performance observed within the levels set by the Institution in a timely manner. In this regard, we carried out
